Dear Scarlet Raptor,

As we have discussed during our Advising & Registration Days, there are many aspects of your New Student Orientation and Rutgers University-Camden faculty and staff are dedicated to helping you create a path for greater success both as a student and a member of our community and beyond. In an effort to further advance our students beyond the classroom, Rutgers University-Camden has partnered with EverFi, whose mission is to help students address critical life skills such as alcohol abuse prevention, sexual assault prevention and financial literacy. Our program provides you online courses to help you develop the critical skills to make more thoughtful and educated choices. Our hope is that with these skills you will find greater success both here at Rutgers University-Camden and well beyond.

Rutgers University-Camden expects you to complete Everfi’s AlcoholEdu, Transit, and Haven and the university online Academic Integrity Tutorial through sakai. Students who fail to complete all four courses will have an academic hold on their record which will prevent them from registering for additional courses, obtaining transcripts, and will need to meet with the Dean of Students.

AlcoholEdu, Transit, and Haven will be available starting Monday, August 6th, 2018. Academic Integrity Tutorial will be available starting Monday, August 6th, 2018.

All new students will be required to complete the first part of the online courses by September 14th, 2018. Those students who do not complete the required course will have an academic hold placed on their account which will remain until the course is completed. Each course will take time to complete and we encourage you to plan out how you are going to complete the course.

AlcoholEdu, Transit, and Haven will be available starting Monday, August 6th, 2018. Academic Integrity Tutorial will be available starting Monday, August 6th, 2018.
